The HONORS MUSIC PROGRAM

The Honors Music Program (HMP) is Westminster Conservatory's pre-college music program for talented instrumentalists ages 8-18, singers ages 12-18, and composers ages 10-18. HMP transforms students' musical skills from their first year in the program. Individual development is top priority, and every student achieves accelerated progress and success. Students enjoy building friendships and making music together each Saturday. They inspire and motivate one another within a community brought together by a shared passion for music.

Today's musicians must be more than just performers. HMP builds foundations of musicianship through its comprehensive program. Students join one of three divisions, which include courses in Performance, Music Theory, Music History, Composition, and Jazz. Lead by an outstanding faculty of performers, professors, and master teachers who are models of artistry, students attend structured classes that are tailored to their levels. New perspectives on music combine with many performance opportunities to create a powerful and exciting experience.

Families have confidence in HMP's history of success. Students achieve top scores on the AP Music Theory Exam and standardized Theory exams. Students are competition winners, and graduates are very successful in the college audition and admissions process. Our graduates go on to the finest music schools, attend top colleges and universities and prepare for a host of professions. Our students share an informed passion for music and an appreciation of their potential.

Gifted students struggle with the over-abundance of musical offerings pulling them in all directions. An HMP education puts the music in context and assures cohesive musical development. Whether their future holds a career as a performer, teacher, or dedicated amateur, broad musical preparation is a unique and valuable asset for life. I hope you will consider what HMP can offer you. I invite you to read through our brochure, browse our website, and schedule a Saturday tour to see HMP in action!

Sincerely,

Esma Pasic-Filipovic
Director, Honors Music Program

APPLYING FOR ADMISSION TO HMP

Welcome. This packet provides forms and information for an application to HMP. You may investigate HMP's three divisions and course offerings on our website. Tours of the program are offered on select Saturdays, when you may visit classes and speak with staff about the program. Visit the "Admissions" page of the HMP website to schedule a tour.

Students make a significant commitment to HMP in terms of attendance and preparation. We offer exciting and challenging instruction each Saturday, and consistency is required in practice and in attendance. Students may miss no more than two classes per semester. We create a team to work together on behalf of each student, and the private teacher's support of the student's work is key.

HMP is unique among music pre-college programs. Small class size allows flexibility to teach to students' interests while our curriculum assures structured progression and outstanding opportunities. Required Music History and Jazz study for Young Artist students is only found at HMP.

Detailed information about the program is available in our brochure and on our website. Please contact an HMP Program Assistant at HMPAssistant@rider.edu with additional questions, as needed.

All admissions forms must be received in the Conservatory Office by May 31, 2018.

The HONORS MUSIC PROGRAM

Applying to the Honors Music Program

All HMP applications require:

- Private teacher recommendation form
- HMP student information form
- Westminster Conservatory registration form with "HMP" written under "Class or group requests"
- $60 application fee (checks should be made payable to Rider University)

Once the four items are received, a staff member will contact you to either schedule an audition or approve submission of a composer's Composition Portfolio.

HMP Audition Requirements

Performance Majors

On the day of the audition, the student will be asked to complete his or her performance of solo repertoire (see below), a sight reading skills evaluation, a brief interview, and a theory placement test. Theory test results are used for class placement and do not impact acceptance decisions.

Pianists and vocalists must perform all pieces from memory.

Instrumentalists perform:

- An etude
- Two contrasting pieces
- Corresponding scales & arpeggios

Vocalists perform:

- A 17th or 18th century Italian or English song
- An art song of contrasting style in any language, from any period

Composition Majors

By May 31, 2018, composers must submit:

A portfolio containing three original compositions

A completed theory placement test

Theory tests are self-scheduled and may be taken during regular Conservatory hours in Princeton. Composers must test out of or have completed Theory Level 3.

Following review of these materials, the student may be contacted for an interview.

Young Music Scholar (Musicianship Studies Majors)

Students complete the theory placement test. Theory tests are self-scheduled and may be taken during regular Conservatory hours in Princeton.

Following review of these materials, the student may be contacted for an interview.

Admission Decisions and Registration

Applicants are admitted to an HMP division based on the panel's recommendation following the assessment. Applicants receive their admissions decision and theory placement results in a letter emailed to the family. If the student's theory knowledge falls between HMP class levels, the family may choose to accelerate the student to a higher level through summer theory tutorials or to enroll the student in the lower level class in September. Fees for any summer tutorials are not included in the HMP tuition.

By July 1, 2018, newly accepted students must submit two fees to reserve their place in HMP:

- $40 Westminster Conservatory registration fee (not required for Conservatory students already enrolled in another offering for 2018-19)
- Non-refundable tuition deposit, applied to program tuition: $500 for Young Artist or Young Musician Students, $150 for Young Music Scholar Students

HMP Tuition 2018 – 2019

Young Artist $2,850

Young Musician $2,100

Young Music Scholar $1,260

Fees for private lessons, outside theory exams, or music scores are not included in tuition.

Financial aid may be available. Forms are available in the office and on the Westminster Conservatory website, and must be submitted at the time of application.
